Translation is like walking on a common ground, bridging two extremities, filling an empty space between two sensibilities, two cultures, or two different ways of experiencing the world. A translation is a negotiation, an interpretation and ultimately a re-interpretation.

An excerpt from the Translator's Note, text of OUROBOROS

OUROBOROS is a multimedia exhibition that presents new explorations on sculpture, installation and film by artists Ayesha Kamal Khan, Mariangela Ciccarello and Joshua Araujo.

Each artist presents their own thought process, addressing notions that spontaneously coincide, such as the simultaneous real and fictional states of language, translation and representation.

Stand4

Founded in January 2017 as an artist-run initiative, Stand4's pursuit is to be alive and working towards a better world through the arts as an active medium of engagement. Stand4 serves as a generator of meaning, action, agency, collaboration, and social justice. It is shapeless, non-conforming, and responsive to the times. Stand4 is meant to exist as a catalyst: a way to envision a more socially and environmentally just future. Housed in a former medical office in the heart of Bay Ridge, Stand4 brings the visual arts and programming to the center of the community, opening up opportunities for social, political and cultural connections and creating a discourse that bridges culture and tradition and includes new voices towards a more sustainable future inspired by local interests.
